Present Ambassador,
In person non grata.

Hope Stalin to pay us a visit. We’ll send the battleship Missouri for him if he’ll come, either to Odessa or Leningrad and being signed.

3. Settle Korean question on the basis of Korean agreement or better, give Korea a government of their own.
4. Settle the Manchurian question on the basis of the Sino-Russian treaty and support Chiang-Kai-shek for a strong China.
5. Agree to a discussion of Russia's war-loan debt 6. Agree to a commercial air treaty on a reciprocal basis.
7. Make it plain that we have no territorial ambitions.
   That we only want peace, but we'll fight for it.
The smart boys, communists, radio commentators & co. wonder why Russia is more amenable to reason now than a year ago. None of them have thought to say either in print or over the air that perhaps someone sent them word that an agreement could be made on a peaceful basis if they created it. But if a peaceful basis was not what Russia wanted the U.S. would meet them on any other basis.

The President stated at the meeting in Berlin on July 14, 1945. that a free Danube is necessary to Central European peace and Central European economy. That Trieste should be a free port for all Central Europe. That the Dardanelles, Kiel Canal and the Rhine-Danube gateway should all be free for the same basis to all nations. That Manchuria should be Chinese, that Taiwan should be Chinese, that Korea should be a free port that Korea should have Kuriles or Sakhalin, that we should control in Japan and the Pacific. That Germany should be occupied as an economic shock to the four powers agreed upon at Yalta, that Austria should not be treated as an enemy country. All agreed to by Russia.

But they did not fully attend part of East Prussia and Germany as if best as the Oder to Poland and had themselves annexed Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania and a part of East Prussia to Russia as well as a large area in eastern Poland.

Hold Mr. Byrner just one year ago that we'd stand an insult and would not be fulfilled. We're pursuing that policy and they're cared in just as Lenin did in the coal strikes.
Because they are the same sort of cattle - bullies and nothing else. We only want justice and a just peace. That will happen and we'll get.
There is no difference in totalitarian states, call them Nazi, Fascist or Communist - they are all the same.
The present dictatorship in Russia is as terrible as the Nazi ones.
