The main thought is, as to say in one attempt to replace the Jewish influence in economic affairs in Europe by the Serbian influence, without creating interference in the economic structure of the individual countries by the closing down of big Jewish firms.

The Jews, as far as Serbia would be administration by the new bank which would administer, and by and by, if the necessity arise, could be realized and after the costs of the resettlement, section which had been advanced by the bank had been paid, would be handed over to the Jewish treasury as advance payments for the values which the Jews received in Romania.

In addition the bank would administer as trustee the call, buildings etc. belonging to the Jews of Romania as far as those things are required and are desired to be used for the settling of the Jews. In the course of the resettlement section it would be paid by and by back these values over to the Jews.

For the Jewish property owned by the bank would not be sufficient to pay these values in each. The bank would have to take the rest of the payments from the Jews and would currently have to hand them over to the Jewish treasury. The Jewish property is already under, as the law that it is not to be handed over to the Jewish treasury, as those offices already possess the required experience. From those offices the payments would be handed over to the bank.

For the printing of the foreign values a similar organization would have to be provided for in the State banking which are to be decided with the individual Jews and concluded about the regulation of the Jewish situation.
The draft would have to address the necessary money for the expenses of the resettlement action itself. The Jewish community would have to bear a greater amount of portable luggage only. For the rest he receives a claim to be chased by the Jewish community accordingly.

The purchase of settlement contracts could be used as samples for the providing of gold to the Jews in Palestine. A kind of trading commission could be founded for procuring the Jews with the necessary equipment and for the utilization of the Jewish products in Palestine, so that the Jews could have no detrimental contact with the outside world. Only the members authorized to buy the products would form the association, which also would handle the sale into the Jewish state, territory, or to foreign countries.
